

R Systems and Xceleris enter into collaboration agreement to provide Sarbanes-Oxley compliance and outsourcing services.

El Dorado Hills and San Mateo, CA – August 18, 2005 – R Systems, Inc. (R Systems) and Xceleris Corporation (Xceleris) today announced that they have entered into a broad collaboration arrangement to provide Sarbanes-Oxley compliance, information technology (“IT”) and business process outsourcing (“BPO”) services. The agreement enables the customers of R Systems and Xceleris to take advantage of a broader and comprehensive range of services for Sarbanes-Oxley Compliance, IT and BPO outsourcing needs.

Xceleris will combine its unique experience in strategic financial and operational consulting, Sarbanes Oxley compliance program management, and business process enhancement, with the Information Technology, Business Process Outsourcing, and Software Engineering expertise of R Systems, to offer unparalleled levels of service for their clients - through one trusted professional partner.

"This agreement launches an exciting new relationship that will be of significant benefit to both R Systems and Xceleris customers. Our customers can now combine their needs for Sarbanes-Oxley compliance, IT and BPO services with one trusted vendor," said Rekhi Singh, CEO of R Systems. "Our customers will benefit considerably by leveraging the efforts and costs of compliance to make process changes that improve efficiency and optimize cost structure."

"Our ability to mobilize the capabilities of both of firms gives our customers leverage with their investment in compliance, resulting in business process improvement rather than simple achievement of compliance goals," stated Jean-Pierre Bernard, CEO of Xceleris. "Viewing compliance as a business enhancement process, and using the skills of both firms, creates the opportunity for combined improvements in processes and controls", he added. "Our highly-experienced Finance and IT professionals will deliver high quality and results-focused compliance through state-of-the-art process and systems solutions that will help our clients focus on their core processes, and accelerate their company's growth."
